ARTIST'S IMPRESSION

THE RISE

WHERE MONTREAL STREET RISES.

Every city keeps a handful of addresses that feel different. A quieter street, a longer view, light that lingers into the evening.

The Rise is six homes, one to a floor, in warm brick and cedar and softened with planting on every balcony. Five full-floor residences rise above a two-bedroom garden residence: a lift to your own floor, a 10-metre west balcony, three bedrooms, and a garden-level retreat of sauna, spa and gym shared by just six owners.

ARTIST'S IMPRESSION

OUTDOOR LIVING

EVENINGS BELONG TO THE WEST BALCONY.

Ten metres of balcony runs the full width of every upper home, with sliding glass from the living room and master suite. It faces west, so the late sun stays with you, over the trees and rooftops towards the park. At the penthouse it is open to the sky.

RESIDENTS' WELLNESS

A wellness retreat for residents only, with its own entrance from the shared lobby, so no one passes through a home.

THE RETREAT

The gym and garden lounge open west to a walled spa courtyard, kept separate from the Garden Residence's private garden. The cedar sauna sits in the north-east wing beside a WC and change room. Residents arrive from the common lift and stair lobby.

DESIGN

BRICK, CEDAR, GREEN AND SUN.

A disciplined red-brick facade, dark-framed glazing, pale balcony edges and restrained cedar, with planting brought onto every balcony to give the building a garden at every level.

ARRIVAL

A QUIET FORECOURT. ROOM FOR EIGHT.

- Four car stackers in the east forecourt, each able to hold two cars
- A separate pedestrian path to the east entrance; bin and cycle store
- Lift and stair to every floor

Stacker numbers and capacity are subject to equipment, access and consent checks.

ENERGY

QUIETLY POWERED BY THE SUN.

Set back on the flat roof, out of sight from the street, a low array of solar panels tilts gently to the north to catch the Canterbury sun. It is a quiet detail rather than a feature, and part of a building designed to use less.

- Rooftop solar, angled north, to help power the building's shared services
- Deep west balconies shade the glass below from high summer sun
- Whole-floor homes with windows on every side for daylight and through-breezes
- Brick and planting: durable, low-maintenance materials that soften with age

Concept only. Solar system size, output and what it supplies will be confirmed in detailed design.
